In the summer of 2006, twelve little boys took to the baseball field carrying a heavy burden. As the returning champions of the BYS 9-10 baseball league, Bob Rabatin had his work cut out for him. During that magical season, Bob helped 12 little boys achieve what few thought was possible, and repeated as champions, running over every team they faced because Bob instructed like a coach should, and yelled like a coach sometimes needs to when a player isn't giving his best effort. My son left baseball after that season because he said, "Dad, I'm already a champion twice. How much better can it get?" Bob demanded that every boy give his best, and took an hour of his time to help me figure out how to manage my very first team in 2007. He told me, "Put your best athletes at shortstop and second base, a kid who can really catch the ball at 1B and a kid who loves to get dirty at 3B, and you're all set." He wasn't wrong, and his advice helped me manage the Rockies to a 15-2 season and memories that linger fondly to this day. Bob, I will miss your baseball help, and your warmth and friendship.
