When I think of you... I think of how many times you were there for me. So many dark moments in this lifetime and the one steady fact- you were always there. So many happy moments in this lifetime, and again, you were always there. It's not fair that you had to suffer at the end, and I am so glad that you are no longer in pain, but the loss that our entire family is feeling is enormous. You were always such a bright and steady light- our light house in the dark, and your light will remain in each one of us, forever. Until we meet again Auntie Pat, I love you and I miss you.

How can you put a lifetime of feelings and memories into words? Where do you begin to express your appreciation and love? I can only thank God for letting me have you as my sister - now He has you back with Him and I have all these feelings in my heart to hold you close till we are together again. I love you as only a sister can understand. ❤️❤️❤️❤️🙏 Donna
